

SHORT NOTE MURIEL FOULONNEAU

Muriel Foulonneau specializes on semantic interoperability of digital resources, semantic data quality, and personalization. She has worked in the fields of computer based assessment, digital repositories, and the reuse of cultural, scientific, and multimedia resources. In France as a research engineer at the National Centre for Scientific Research the largest research centre in Europe, in the US as visiting assistant professor at the University of Illinois, and in the Public Research Centre Henri Tudor and in Luxembourg as a senior researcher. She has developed technologies and methods for data reprocessing, Web mining and user generated content. She is the author of numerous articles and three books. She has recently published several articles on the generation of assessment items from Semantic Web data sources. She has served in multiple conference committees including ESWC (Extended Semantic Web Conference), the Dublin Core conference, and the International workshop on Semantic and Social Media Adaptation and Personalization.

